

Names: Malik Amer/2221189006

Yahia Aglan/2221192097

Ex1:

Functional:

- System Shall allow users to login using username and password stored in the database.
- System shall allow users to search for courses by their name or course-ID and check their availability and list the results to the user.
- System shall allow administrators to request and view courses details including the number of students registered to each course and get the student names from the database.

Non-Functional:

- System shall secure users information by encrypting user data. (Security)
- System shall handle large number of students updating or searching courses at the same time. (Capacity)
- System shall perform administrators requests on the courses in under 3 seconds. (Performance)

Ex2:

Functional:

- System Shall allow users to register a new account and check if their credentials exist before storing it in the database, and it also shall allow login using username and password stored in the database and verify it by an OTP code.
- System shall allow users to search and browse products by their name, category, or price and list the results in alphabetical order.
- System shall allow administrators to request and view orders details including the quantity of each product ordered from the system.

Non-Functional:

- System shall secure users credentials by encrypting their account data. (Security)
- System shall be easy and accessible for users from different ages. (Usability)
- System shall handle large number of users searching or browsing for products at the same time. (Capacity)
- System shall retrieve orders information to administrators requests in under 2 seconds. (Performance)